We laughed and laughed. Definitely do it standing up, if you can. This is hilarious. If you like carnival rides, this is for you.. definitely worth the money to watch my husband fall over. This is great.. This isn't quite worth a dollar. Let me explain. You certainly get enough vertigo, and motion sickness for the price (in this instance, these are good things), but this ride is just such a common experience you can find many other places, oftentimes for free. Maybe if the environment wasn't too basic, or it wasn't set at nighttime, I would have been able to recommend it as a decent impulse buy for those who need something that functions as virtual ipecac syrup. Get 'Ultimate Booster' experience on steam @ 5$ and you will get a much better version of this, and several other 'rides'. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EDqYHqYrb1I>. I've had this game for a couple months but just finally tried it this evening. As far as a singular experience in VR goes, this one was one of the most real sensations I've come across. I recommend sitting on the floor so you can rock back and forth with the motion, sitting still just doesn't do it and standing is outright dangerous. The way it's set up is also excellent for handing off from person to person. Anyway, worth the money, made me excited about what will happen with the future of VR if the movement is convincing enough to make my brain think the body is experiencing motion.. This is a very tough call on whether to recommend or not. It's only a .99 cents game and it delivers on what it promises. I think in the end that deserves a recommendation. But just know that you're getting a short ride. And the graphics are average to below average for this genre. And you'll be using a keyboard to get the game going (why does it not support a controller?!).

However, I think this is a unique enough experience to recommend for VR Rollercoaster V Carnival Ride Experience enthusiasts. It's a nighttime carnival atmosphere and the ride is definitely different than others (even from the one in Ultimate Booster experience which is similar, but this ride just feels very different to me). I enjoyed the ride.

Rate 5/10 .. yes, I now have a stomach made of steel and get no motion sickness or nausea :D . Not even worth $1.00. I mean you just float around in circles then its over. Also i never get motion sick but this game its bad.

Seriously save your $1.00 this is garbage. It's Short but man it is trippy. Great demo for VR to show your family and friends lol. Hope they add more rides!!!!. -----Dont Buy This Game-----

This game is just another vr game that you pay 1$ and just play it one time. Its cool and all but its one ride and it only lasts 1 minute so its not worth it should be free!! Kind of makes me sick if I sit down while playing and kind of boring. Then, I stood up. So much FUN! No sickness at all when I stand. Be careful, you might fall.
